

Coming this weekend...All Your Benefits, All In One Place

This Saturday, Benefits Access becomes the website for all Wespath benefits — retirement, health, well-being, and life and disability. This new website will make it easier for you to view summaries of all your existing benefits, find benefit detail information and access benefit partner websites.

When you log in, the new homepage will show summaries of all your benefits with Wespath including retirement account balances, health and well-being highlights, and life and disability plan coverage or eligibility. The Retirement Details page will have the same information as the current Benefits Access, including retirement planning tools and resources.

Things to know about the new site

- How you log into Benefits Access will stay the same. Simply sign on using your current Benefit Access login credentials at benefitsaccess.org.
- If you do not have health or well-being programs through Wespath, Benefits Access will still provide you direct access to your retirement account summaries, projection tools and investment information. In the new Benefits Access, you see only the benefits applicable to you.
- This enhancement is not available on the Benefits Access app. A mobile-friendly view will be available on the Benefits Access website.
- If you are a HealthFlex participant, HealthFlex/WebMD will still be available for your spouse to access health and well-being information through the first part of 2021.
- Health and well-being program participants will not be required to log in separately when accessing the following provider websites—BlueCross BlueShield, UnitedHealthcare, OptumRx, Health Equity, Quest and Virgin Pulse—as long as a login account has already been established for these sites.

Not registered for Benefits Access? Sign-up today at benefitsaccess.org.
